Welcome to Ristijärvi – The municipality of good age

Ristijärvi is an idyllic small municipality in the Oulu province, lying in the middle of the economic area of Kainuu alongside Finnish national road No. 5. The beautiful, breathtaking landscape and the peacefulness of the community attract visitors to stay. The multitude of hills and lakes makes for excellent outdoor activity opportunities and a beautiful sight. Ristijärvi is known as the municipality of good age. Without forgetting other age groups, we are specialized in senior citizen competence. The municipality of Ristijärvi advances the consideration of senior citizens with the help of Seniorpolis. The aim of Seniorpolis is to develop the environment of senior citizens and to support senior initiative and activity through diverse services. The municipality of Ristijärvi and Seniorpolis cooperate intensely for the benefit of senior citizens.

The municipality's specialization in senior citizen competence has raised awareness in Finland as well as internationally. The idea evolved around the year 2000, as Ristijärvi discovered senior citizens as an opportunity. Ristijärvi is a forerunner in senior citizen market development. Our whole village cares for the well-being of senior citizens. Rural senior housing is gaining popularity, and our senior apartments are very sought after. The municipal services are close and the environment is constantly being developed into a more resident-friendly direction. The development of the municipality benefits other age groups as well. Senior citizen services create new job opportunities for young people. Companies profit from the municipality of good age as well, as population growth increases service demand.

Three generations meet in the municipality of good age, showing each other respect and appreciation. You are also welcome to enjoy, live and meet people in Ristijärvi!

Seniors change the world

Seniorpolis is a center of excellence managed from Ristijärvi, Kainuu. Seniorpolis develops and tests welfare products such as housing, education, recreation and care services for people of over 55 years of age.

Seniorpolis develops the senior citizen's way of life, coordinating and promoting the realization of other projects as well. We also participate in developing business in the welfare area.

With post-war baby boomers retiring, there are soon going to be one and a half million senior citizens in Finland. The ways of life, consumer behavior and spending of these people change the logic of business and economics in all developed industrial countries. The senior lifestyle becomes a visible and influential mainstream. New kinds of products, services and solutions are needed to cover the senior citizen's needs in fields like health, care, nutrition, technology, housing and free time as well as in activities such as sports, travelling or learning.

Seniorpolis is a forerunner in considering the need of the aging and a link point for promoting the senior citizen's welfare. We participate in the development of research, solutions, environment, products and services related to senior citizens. We want to build good lives for seniors.

A unique network

Seniorpolis is constructing a worldwide network and wishes to have partners from abroad. We search for relationships and contacts in diverse forums, seminars and meetings. Our aim is to find partners in developing functioning and profitable high quality products and services for seniors.

We need networks for developing the innovation environment of senior citizens, companies and the businesses of our partners. Within a joint project we can combine the interests of both parties and generate shared benefits.

We also participate in various development and welfare projects. These projects are aimed at vast and long lasting project and activity cooperation, as well as at setting senior activities within a broader framework.

Seniorpolis has been acknowledged both in Finland and internationally. We are already known over the world and have been the target of studies and investigations. People know us for example in the Nordic countries, Germany, Scotland, France and Canada. Seniorpolis has achieved worldwide visibility, as it was introduced at the Cologne OECD conference in April 2008 as a viable, innovative solution to rural area problems. Seniorpolis is introduced also in the OECD annual country report on Finland.

Seniorpolis offers Ristijärvi as a test-bed. Companies, universities, higher education institutions and research institutes are given an excellent opportunity to test new products in Ristijärvi. Here senior citizens are near and product testing is made easy. We also want to create visible trademarks and a strong Seniorpolis brand under which enterprises can flourish.

Cozy living in a pleasant environment

Ristijärvi is a pioneer of senior housing in Finland. Seniorpolis and Ristijärvi have provided an opportunity to test the viability of small-scale rural senior housing. High quality row and double houses designed especially for senior citizens have been built in the municipality. The structures of such apartments can be modified according to the condition of the senior citizen. In Ristijärvi there are magnificent shore and hill sites for building. The supply of apartments and sites is increasing due to strong demand.

Seniorpolis has participated in vast research projects concerning future senior housing. In Ristijärvi, a business model relating to senior housing has been in development. The housing model's fitness and adaptability are to be tested elsewhere as well. There are plans for education to increase the number of restoration professionals converting apartments to fit the senior citizens' needs.

Senior citizens are especially encouraged to cooperate with younger people. Age differences are converted into learning advantages.

Providing senior citizens with education in the fields of art and culture, the Senior Academy of Art and Culture is a nationwide institution within the Kajaani University Consortium. The Senior Academy has organized public lectures in various fields of arts as well as courses in environmental art. The offerings in art and education are continuously being enlarged, and the operations of the senior academy are being firmly established in Ristijärvi.
